Consulted with primary Shang for search in class 725/54 and we talked about the terminal disclaimer that the applicant sent to the office .We compared the claims in the patent(6651252) with the claims in the current application and we found that there is a difference among them.For example, on claim 1 of the patent said :encoded video, but on claim 1 of the current application he said: encoded video , associated encoded video.He is more specific in the application.
